WEATHER STATION, DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY

Department of Geography, Rammohan College maintains a Weather Station since September 1, 2023 at New Science Building Campus in association with Indian Meteorological Department, Kolkata. It is very unique as the first educational institute with such facilities in North Kolkata. At present, this mini weather station is capable of measuring maximum and minimum temperature, relative humidity, atmospheric pressure, wind direction and rainfall data and this information are regularly updated in college website.

Future plan: Upgradation to Mini Weather Station with collaboration and guidance of IMD, Kolkata will be required to record data in an automated sharing system through advanced anemometer, hygrometer and max-min thermometer, Fortin's Barometer with the present facilities.
